Nuwe dramareeks sal kykers boei

In 1965 is die jong Issie Fourie en Petro Nel op Odendaalsrus in die Vrystaat ontvoer en vermoor. Issie se broer, André, het gesweer om alles in die stryd te werp om die skuldige aan die pen te laat ry. Dit sou hom 18 jaar neem.

Niggies, die nuwe dramareeks oor die moorde, sal in Maart op KykNet vertoon word.

Die regisseur is die veelbekroonde Jaco Bouwer, wat nie net bekend is vir sy grensverskuiwende teaterwerk nie, maar ook vir die internasionale trefferreeks Spinners, wat in en om Kaapstad verfilm is.

Beer Adriaanse, bekend vir flieks soos Wonderlus en Kanarie, asook reekse soos Hotel en Fynskrif, vertolk die rol van die ouer André. Die talentvolle nuweling Janru Steenkamp speel die jong André. Ook te sien is Carel Nel (Donkerbos, Hartstog), wat verskyn het in die HBO Max-reeks Raised by Wolves en die internasionaal bekroonde ekoriller Gaia, waarvan Jaco Bouwer ook die regisseur was.

Die reeks strek oor die 1960's en 1980's.

Die gebeure speel af in Odendaalsrus, Allaridge en Kroonstad, 'n konserwatiewe deel van 'n konserwatiewe land waar die moorde soveel te meer skokkend was. Die bekroonde Saartjie Botha en Philip Rademeyer het die draaiboek geskryf.

“Hoewel die ontvoering en moorde destyds opslae gemaak het, het die besonderhede van die storie vergete geraak, behalwe natuurlik vir diegene wat direk deur die trauma geraak is,” verduidelik Bouwer.

“Ons wou nie ou wonde oopkrap nie - maar eerder ondersoek wat werklik gebeur het, met 'n bietjie kreatiewe vryheid, en dit in die konteks van die moderne Suid-Afrika plaas, waar sulke misdade meer algemeen is as 60 jaar gelede.”

“Niggies is 'n rou ondersoek na verlies en hoe onverwerkte trauma gesinne kan vernietig,” sê M-Net se direkteur van Premiumkanale, Waldimar Pelser.

“Dit is nie 'n sensasionele verhaal oor geweld nie; eerder 'n sensitiewe verkenning van hoe pyn hanteer en genesing gevind kan word in 'n plek waar hoop nie veronderstel is om te bestaan nie.”

Mobile unit to screen for breast cancer

Klerksdorp Midweek, Klerksdorp - This week, a mobile cancer screening unit will park in Klerksdorp with state of the art equipment to provide mammography and breast ultrasounds.

These screening services will be done by female staff. The mobile unit will be stationed at the parking lot of Builder's Warehouse from February 3 until February 14. Inside you will find friendly female staff, state of the art equipment, air-conditioned rooms and private changing rooms.

Numerous studies show that breast cancer is the most common cancer to affect women, however with early screening and quality treatment the survival rate significantly increases. Mammography plays a central role in the early detection of breast cancer and other breast diseases.

WHY GET A MAMMOGRAM?

Breast cancer has become a significant reality in recent times in many households. We are all affected by breast cancer, if not personally, by association through friends or colleagues.

Statistically, breast cancer is the most common cancer in women of all races, with a lifetime risk of 1 in 27 in South Africa.

The incidence of breast cancer increases as women grow older, although women under the age of 40, especially those with a strong family history of breast cancer, are also commonly diagnosed in recent times.

We must realise that every person is at risk of developing breast cancer, it is our responsibility to take the necessary steps in taking care of ourselves, not only for our sake but also for our families and friends.

Early breast cancer treatment saves lives and leads to better treatment options and outcomes.

Routinely, a mammogram consists of both a top and side view of each breast, however additional views can be taken. The mammogram is followed by breast ultrasound. If necessary, conventional mammography is combined with tomosynthesis, breast biopsy or breast MRI.

Depending on the area that will be examined, you may want to wear loose, comfortable clothing.

You may be asked to change into a gown for the examination and to remove any jewellery or other metallic items from your body before the examination.

Contact 063 609 6022 to make a booking.
